

Spring Blossoms

BEHOLD; spring is near;
To cast off shackles of winter's icy blast,
As new life unfolds, with every ray of sunlight cast
O'er field and farm and hilltop bare,
And bubbling stream,
Now spring is near.

Rejoice; spring is near;
Proclaim your praise with song and dance,
Whilst small creatures venture, as if perchance,
New worlds to see and sounds to hear,
They awake their slumbers,
Now spring is near.

Give thanks; spring is near;
Look forward to a brave new day,
Filled with happiness and come what may,
Lost friends reunited, those we hold so dear,
A fresh new start,
Now spring is here!
